Another outstanding experience at The Myerberg Center's annual health fair.

It was a true pleasure reconnecting with old friends and meeting so many engaged, health-focused individuals committed to protecting their brains and their futures.

Huge congratulations to the organizers — an incredible turnout despite the snow, ice, and challenging weather. That speaks volumes about the strength of this community and the importance of brain health.

Grateful for the opportunity to contribute and honored to play a role in such a meaningful event.

Looking forward to the next one.

This morning, I'm attending the MYERBERG Health Fair, a free community event focused on health, wellness, and education.

The National Aging in Place Council - Greater Baltimore Chapter is proud to be a supporter, with several of our members present and engaging directly with the community.

Health fairs like this play an important role in proactive aging — offering access to screenings, education, and conversations that empower individuals to plan ahead rather than react during a crisis.

Grateful to MYERBERG for creating space for connection, care, and community.

Kudos to the staff at the Edward A. Myerberg Center who, once again, put on a wonderful Health Fair for the community!

There were so many resources available to the 200+ seniors, in our community, who came out to participate.

Great job!!!

I just love a senior center that puts so much energy in creating the most dynamic, supportive, vibrant communities for the members. And the Myerberg with Ilysa Cohen and her team pulled off the best health resource fair in the area (and every year)!

I also get to see so many friends (and amazing competitors) from my industry, it's like a family reunion and a lot of fun.

This year was extra special for me because the National Aging in Place Council - Greater Baltimore Chapter showed up in big #s showing the dynamic needs and resources older adults need to access, so successful aging in place doesn't become a lost opportunity.
